DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

The A. B. Moss building is a two-story brick commercial building which is distinguished by the two large brick "chevrons" which break the roofline and function as false fronts for twin facade units. The "chevrons" emerge from a unique banded brick ornamentation and are flanked by abbreviated piers which terminate with brick finials. The windows, which have cut stone sills and brick segmental arches with stone keystones, are united by a brick banding.

The facade's first-story, with its recessed center doorway and border of black tiles with orange lozenges, was the result of a 1926 remodeling. Except for this, and a coat of green paint above, this building remains unaltered.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

The A. B. Moss building is architecturally significant for its unique brick ornamentation, which fits Marcus Whiffen's "High Victorian Italianate" classification. The brick banding and the two chevrons rising from it represent unusual craftsmanship in brick for its time and location.

A. B. Moss is credited with founding Payette. He supplied the original ties for the Union Pacific Railroad by floating them down the Payette River to "Boomerang", the name he gave to present day Payette. He was an extensive landholder in the area and was active in municipal government for many years. The Moss family still owns this building which is now used as a senior citizens center.

A. B. Moss came to the Payette valley in 1881. In 1882 he secured a contract from the Oregon Short Line Railroad to supply them with 250,000 ties. Also in this year he and a brother established a store in Payette as a supply camp for the railroad which eventually became the Moss Mercantile Company, the largest store in the area.
