

STOP - Drawing the Conclusion

A conclusion is the last impression for a reader. It is also key in helping the reader understand why your topic is significant in history; why it matters. A conclusion does not just repeat what was already explained but synthesizes the argument and makes connections.

| Thesis | | |
|--------|--|--|
| | | |

| Main Idea 1 | Main Idea 2 | Main Idea 3 |
|-------------|-------------|-------------|
| | | |

| CONCLUSION | | Use the claims above to complete your conclusion. |
|----------------|---|---|
| S | Summarize - Explain how main ideas support evidence presented. Synthesize, do not just repeat. | |
| T | Thesis Reworded - Use keywords to clarify and reinforce argument made | |
| O P | Opinion/Perspective - Make connections to real world. Put argument in historical perspective. | |